UPPER SILESIA DECIDED

Plebiscite Area Divided in Almost Equal Parts Between Poland and Germany.

Paris, Oct. 20.—(By the A. P.)—The decision of the council of the league of nations on the Upper Silesian question, the plebiscite area in almost equal parts between Poland and Germany as to the number of communes and privileges administrative machinery for the general administration of the new regime over a period of fifteen years.

The long awaited boundary line, according to an official communiqué, will follow the Oder river to Niebieschau, as a line of demarcation between the two countries. The line is further traced in detail by the names of villages, the commune stating that in this more northerly section of the Upper Silesian plebiscite area, the line will follow the Oder river to the point where it joins that already fixed between Germany and Poland.

In order to insure the continuity of plebiscite life in Upper Silesia, after the partition, the council of ambassadors is urged to take measures looking toward German and Polish co-operation under the form of a general agreement.

The administration of private railways is left unchanged by the decision and as for the German railway system, a system of common exploitation is to exist throughout the fifteen years.

All inhabitants of the plebiscite area are to be allowed to cross the frontier without formal itinerary, which arrangement is to remain effective until Polish legislation has been established in the area. All Poles living in the German zone are to keep their respective domiciles over the fifteen years. All Poles over eighteen years old living in which to choose their nationality.

A mixed Upper Silesian commission, composed of Poles, Germans and Upper Silesians, is to constitute an advisory agency to facilitate the application of the plebiscite decision.

The establishment of a court of arbitration to act in cases of private disputes.
